Anti-Stress Dog Tablets

Supplementary feed with magnesium, vitamin B and tryptophan

Useful information:

Everyday situations such as being alone, loud noises or travelling can be problematic for frightened or insecure dogs. A balanced supply of nutrients is important for inner balance and well-being. Magnesium, vitamin C and the B vitamins support normal, healthy functioning of the nervous system and sensory perception. The amino acid tryptophan is a component of enzymes and provides the basis for the hormone serotonin. Anti-Stress Dog Tablets help to supply the decisive nutrients in stressful situations and thus support the well-being of the dog. This enables the dog to learn to master critical situations and keep calm.
