

Black Forest Pine Honey

unprocessed natural honey

A very popular honey specialty. Our Black Forest Pine Honey has an intense aroma of honey with a slightly resinous flavour. The honeydew is obtained from the vast pine forests of the Black Forest.

Origin: Germany

Honey is a natural product. There may be natural variations in appearance, color and flavor. Almost every untreated honey crystallizes sooner or later, depending on the variety. Crystallization does not detract from the quality of the honey. Many connoisseurs prefer spreadable, crystallized, candied honey. By warming it in a water bath at temperatures of up to 40°C, the honey liquefies quickly. Like other raw food products, honey should not be given to infants under the age of 12 months.
